Summary

I am a student of University of St. La Salle yakking BS in Computer Science student. Moreover, I am a Technology officer of Google Developer Students Club at University of St. La Salle. I believe that continuous progress is better than perfection as we are human being and we never stop to learn and experience new things. Despite my busy schedule as a student I find time to workout, explore new skills, and more importantly take time to rest. My hobbies are listening to music, Art (digital and traditional), playing video games, and watching movies, short films, animations, or series.
